6 WAYS TO BE #BODYPOSITIVE

1. FOCUS ON WHAT YOUR BODY CAN DO
Think of the millions of unique things your body helps you do everyday. This is a great reminder that you're so much more than the way you look.

2. QUESTION WHAT YOU SEE IN THE MEDIA
Next time you see an 'ideal' body, think: What goes into looking that way? How many people do you see in everyday life that look like that? Is it realistic or helpful to compare yourself to that standard?

3. UNFOLLOW PEOPLE WHO MAKE YOU FEEL CRAP ABOUT YOURSELF
For a positive newsfeed, try following people you admire who have all different interests – and body shapes.

4. SAY THANK YOU
Next time someone gives you a compliment, try saying thank you rather than shrugging it off. Showing gratitude can go a long way to improving how we feel about ourselves.

5. FOCUS ON OTHER PEOPLE'S GOOD QUALITIES
Looking for the good in other people creates positive vibes and can even help you focus on your own strengths.

6. HANG WITH POSITIVE PEOPLE
Surround yourself with people who get you and encourage you to feel confident.

We know that feeling good about your body or appearance isn't always easy. If you are struggling with body image, visit ReachOut.com or chat to the Butterfly Foundation on 1800 33 46 73.

Ask Colonel Clearwater

Dear Colonel Clearwater, What a liberal rag! Forget experience. Look at expertise. You have to admit that Sen. McCain has a better grasp on foreign policy than the opposition. Admit it!
L.C., Largo, Florida

• Dear Colonel Clearwater, I liked the old Clearwater Sun better. At least you could wrap mullet in it. But your election issue really burned my patoot. It's obvious that you retouched the photos. (Background gone, etc.) It looks to me like you also shaved some love handles. What's with you? These politicians ain't no Nicolas Sarkozy. Ed Smith

• Dear Mr. Smith, When Paris Match tried adjusting the lighting on their picture of the French president, his belly shrank because "The correction was exaggerated during the printing process." It's surprising how many photos have been accidently altered in Rosemary Woods-esque style dark room/computer incidents. A code of ethics that won't let you remove the soup stains from a guy's tie is basically flawed. I, for one, prefer pretty pictures.
Colonel Clearwater

• Dear L.C., We don't usually print letters from out-of-towners, but you raise a good point. Here's what Sen. McCain said.

"It's common knowledge and has been reported in the media that al-Qaeda is going back into Iran and receiving training and are coming back into Iraq from Iran, that's well known. And it's unfortunate."

Then his ally, Sen. Joe Lieberman whispered in his ear. Sen. McCain then said, "I'm sorry, the Iranians are training extremists, not al-Qaeda."

Senator McCain has recently made this same mistake four times, even once in writing. In foreign policy, he sounds more and more like Mr. Magoo. It just seems that he doesn't know Shia from Shinola.
Colonel Clearwater

• Dear Colonel Clearwater, Barack Obama's preacher said "America's chickens are coming home to roost"* and other nasty stuff. I think we should vote against him. What do you think? P. Jones

• Dear Ms. Jones, When I was a sprout in a little church in the Wildwood, "my" preacher got in front of the flock (who were flapping cardstock fans with a funeral company's ad). He took out a handkerchief, wiped his brow and said, "It's a G D hot day out there." After the gasps died down he went on. "I heard a teenager say that to his friends this morning." Then he delivered a fiery sermon on "Taking the Lord's Name in Vain." He wasn't my preacher. I didn't think he should have used bad words in church. But he didn't consult me before saying it. And some of the grown-ups seemed to like it. (I think I was eight at the time).

I have a news flash for you: (act surprised and try not to feel silly.)

NEWS FLASH! Inner City Black Minister Bitter About Racism!

Quoting people out of context: It's just part of the Silly Season. It's gonna get worse. Col.CW

Granted, they probably don¢ÁÂÂt remember it. The first international call was placed in April of 1921, just over 100 years ago, from Key West, Florida to Havana, Cuba. Since then wee¢ÁÂve seen the advent of emails, cell phones, video chatting, and more. We do not lack ways to contact one another.Á Â With the rise of the internet and the proliferation of apps like WhatsApp and Zoom, knowing how to dial an international call may seem more like an ancient art than a necessity. Still, we think it¢ÁÂÂs a valuable thing to know how to do. This article will explain the basics of country codes ¢ÁÂ what they are, how they work, how to use them to make a call, and how to look up a specific country code to prepare you for your next call. What are Country Codes? You can think of a phone number in its entirety as a map of sorts¢ÁÂ or a set of instructions that tells the phone company how to get your call from point A to point B. The further away the destination, the longer the directions will be.Á Â Photo Courtesy: Paul Bradbury/iStock tsom á â,,llac lanoitartni na qnicalp erofeb laid ot uoy taht xiferp a sá€tnuc ydnuoc tnuot ysetruoc Otohp .353 FO edoc yrtnuoc A SAH HCIHW ,dnaleri fo cilbuper eht .edoc Theid-erehT Evah Snoitalms htiw Seirtnuoc ,seoc ahtnuoc a Htiret htiw , emos rof snoitpecxe era ereht .ocixem rof 25 DNA ,Anihc rof 68 ,Aidni rof 19 ,modgnik detinu eht rof 44 ,ecnarf rof ,era sllac rof rof rof rof rot rot rot rot rot rot rot rot rot rot rof rof rof rof rof rof rof rof rof rof rof rof rof edoc yrtnuoc rots Tsom .yrtnuoc yb yrav netfo netfo ydle yrtnuoc â â â â, Arace of edoc Terroc tcerroc yfitnedi tsrif dna pam rieht if you mooz ot deen yeht taht ynapmoc yohp eht ot snick of ,edoc yrtnuoc that dda in nehw . â€ânod ew â â â NOSREP CIPIPS EHT YFITNEDI OT KBA GNIMOOZE OFEB AERAE TERROC EHT ETOCOL TSRIF OT PM YANIANIMAMI EMOS if you mooz ot ynapmoc ynohp eht sllet of ,edoc aera neht ew neht ew neht arona Eht ot otoc aera na fo ecnesba eht dna ,rebun the ,setats detinu ew fi .gnilaid edoc EDOC eht Edulcni ot yrassecen to sá htw esocos laid ew .aedoc aera ot ylralim yrev krow yrtnuoc eht use two standard codes; which is 00 and 001. Mexico, United Kingdom, France, Malaysia and India commonly use code 00. The second international call code, 011, is used by countries such as Canada, Jamaica, Australia, the United States and overseas territories. Other codes also exist, such as 009 for Nigeria, 010 for Japan and 119 for Cuba, among others. When you are dialing internationally, you do not dial the international call code for the country you are calling. You mark the call code for your country in order to tell the phone company, "here, I'm about to make an international call." It is more a head above than a specific set of directions. However, technological advances now allow most mobile phones to simply use the '+' signal to indicate that you are putting an international call. Thus, dialing an international call code before a country code is no longer necessary. The '+' sign will do very well. Consider two family members living in the same city and share the same area code. When they want to call each other, they can make this call with only a 7-digit number. When a family member moves abroad, but still lives within the same country, it becomes important to include the area code. When this same family member moves abroad, now to dial them, you need to first mark a '+' sign (a stand-in for your country's exit code), plus the country code, before dialing your new number. Suppose this family member now lives in the UK; this is how you would dial your number: + – Replaces the international call code44 – UK country code1296 – Area Code99999999 – Mobile Number Thus, your complete international phone number will appear like this: +44 1296 999999.
